Refunds WILL NOT be given for cancellations, late arrivals, early departures, nor meals not eaten. We are required to make advance financial commitments to insure the lowest rates possible. Once you make a commitment, we hold these spaces for you. Therefore, canceling an assignment means that all money paid will be forfeited and will be considered as a donation to missions. However, you may transfer to another location and date providing space is available. Lost monies can be used for up to two years.

INSURANCE: Youth on Mission provides supplemental health/accident insurance for each person through Brotherhood Mutual Insurance. In addition; individuals are required to have their own medical coverage. It is vital that your insurance coverage be valid overseas, so please check with your company on that if you are not sure.

Immunization: Since we do not minister in remote areas, shots are not commonly necessary. However, as it is here in the United States, we can never guarantee that no one will ever get sick, we recommend you contact your local health department and follow their guidelines. *Consult with your doctor to confirm that your normal vaccines are current.

PREPARATION:

Youth on Mission expects a high standard of excellence. You are expected to train your group and keep a high commitment to the project. Failure to properly prepare will result in a less than successful project. Our staff will be glad to discuss any problems that you may encounter. Contact our office immediately for assistance.

GROUP BEHAVIOR:

Youth and adults are representatives of Jesus Christ, your local church, and Youth On Mission. It is very important to conduct yourself in a Christian manner at all times. Bad attitudes, fighting, disrespect, or damages to housing cannot be tolerated. If these problems should arise your group will be asked to leave at your expense. No refunds will be given for early departure.

AGREEMENT:

We have read the above information and agree with these terms and conditions. We will prepare our group and take actions accordingly.
